The RYSL Philosophy

061011

“The RYSL is the Premier Recreation Soccer League in Nevada and as such, encourages its players to play Soccer ‘instinctively’, ‘intuitively’ and for the ‘fun’ of it”.

“The RYSL does not want the players to be ‘over coached’. They are taught the ‘basics’ of the Game of Soccer and that is what the Coaches concentrate on”.

“The RYSL wants each of the players in the League to ‘Love’ the Game of Soccer, and as a ‘Feeder League’, if they desire to go to the next level, they are encouraged to join a Club or Independent Competitive team to get more into the Technical and Tactical aspects of the Game”.

“The RYSL expects its coaches to show restraint when playing teams that are not at the same level as their team and to use whatever means necessary to prevent the kinds of lopsided scores that would cause embarrassment and discouragement to the other teams and would bring discredit to the RYSL.”

“The RYSL encourages Coaches of Teams that have reached a point where there is no longer a challenge in the Age Group they are playing in, to move up to the next Age Group so the players can once again be challenged and ultimately progress to their potential.”

“The RYSL is the kind of League that marries fun and excitement to conditioning and skill development to help form the complete Soccer player and provide the necessary wholesome growth atmosphere for each of its players in this part of their lives.”
